Each of these genes was targeted for homologous recombination using the S. pombe knockout collection \[@B2\]. The library will be of value for researchers seeking to analyze gene function and for researchers attempting to unravel biological processes in fission yeast. To facilitate the identification of these mutant strains, we constructed a single S. pombe strain in which all genes had been knocked out \[@B3\]. We also generated a series of antiserum against recombinant fission yeast proteins to make it easier to identify the cells with a knock-out and to monitor protein expression. These antisera were raised against linear peptides, suitable for immunofluorescence microscopy. Materials and methods ===== Library genes were heterologously expressed in the single S. pombe KO strain. The expressed proteins were purified and used to generate antisera (Fig 1A{ref-type="fig"}). Antisera were used to immunoprecipitate tagged fission yeast proteins using streptavidin beads, and proteins were separated by two-dimensional gel electrophoresis (Fig. 1B{ref-type="fig"}). ![Antibodies raise against fission yeast proteins.] A. We find that one antibody is raised against every protein in the yeast genome. Each of these genes was targeted

The ink is transferred from the print media to the print media substrate through the use of one or more printheads. Ink is deposited onto the media substrate using a liquid ink delivery system that includes an ink reservoir, a printhead, a jetting chamber, an ink supply system, and an activation system. The liquid ink delivery system generates a pressure wave that propels the ink from the ink reservoir to the jetting chamber. The pressure wave generated by the liquid ink delivery system may cause the nozzle of the printhead to collapse, diminishing the amount of ink that is ejected from the nozzle and potentially drying out the ink within the nozzle. Once dried out, ink nozzles may produce poor quality output and the printheads may eventually become inoperable.A search is underway for another "person of interest" who disappeared last weekend near the city. They say he was found "in good health" today in the Dukes County area of North Carolina. Charlotte-Mecklenburg Police say they still want to speak with the man. Cops say he has a history with a major prostitution bust in September. Police say they believe he could be connected with the death of a 17-year-old girl in early January. The man is described as a black male in his 20s with a short beard and goatee. He has dark hair and brown eyes. Police say he was last seen wearing a black shirt, black shorts and black flip flops. In recent years, various types of digital audio tape recorders (DAT) have been proposed and put into practical use. Typical ones of such digital audio tape recorders have adopted an audio signal compression coding method for compressing an analog audio signal which is input to an audio system. In a digital audio tape recorder of this kind, a digital audio signal is recorded and reproduced in the form of a serial digital recording signal 0cc13bf012

"Well, why didn't you just call her Aunt Juno?" "Am I really that much more attractive?" "OK." "You know you were right about the car." "We should never have trusted that jerk." "I was kind of hoping you were wrong." "About what?" "About the car." "You should have taken the bus." "Damn it, we lost him." "Don't worry." "He didn't have the keys, anyway." "Come on." "What are you doing?" "He'll know if we cut the engine." "No, he won't." "The car's a cop car." "They hook up to the power grid." "Come on." "He'll be able to tell." "You're not thinking of jumping them, are you?" "So what if I am?" "We're cops." "We got to report a crime." "Come on, it'll be fun." "Yeah, we can use the extra set of wheels." "I have seen some sick shit, but this takes the friggin' cake." "This guy was an artist." "Who are those guys?" "I don't know." "But I think we just became instant legends." "Well, at least we'll get to spend some time together." "What is it?" "There are some things you need to know about me." "OK." "You see, I'm..." "I'm a sex addict." "What, you're like a fro-yo addict?" "No, I'm more of a fro-yo addict." "Yeah, so I was." "Look, the point is that, uh, when a sex addict gets a blow job, it's the best orgasm he's had in six months." "And I really want to be the best boyfriend I can be." "So, I thought, why not just start with a blow job?" "If I was going to do it, I didn't want to do it alone." "It just turns me on too much." "Wow." "That is truly beautiful." "Thanks." "No problem." "I'm just
